Some damage has been done to the roofs of the Workhouse Chapel, Spring in and Fever Hospital, ^{by recent storm.}
~~Order~~ to be repaired.

In the Meat contractor's Bond it would be well to mention the different sorts of meat required and to be cut into the different proportions, viz. Boiling Beef, Beef for Beef Tea, Chops, Steaks, and coarse meat for boiling, and to have it distinctly stated that no fat is to be taken on either. Taking the thin rib out of a loin chop breaks it up, so I would suggest an allowance of 1 lb. in 10 or 12 lbs. be made by Contractor and leave it in: the top of the rib and all other bone to be taken out of the chop.

The Meat Contractor having been called before the Board the following arrangement was entered into, viz:—

The meat to be cut into proportions of Boiling Beef, Beef for Beef Tea, Chops and steaks. The small bone to be left in loin chops, the Contractor allowing 1 lb. in 12 lbs. of chops for it. No other bones to be left in. No fat to be left in Beef Tea meat.

The Contractor to supply such quantity of coarse meat as may be required for boiling at the rate of 4½ p cent. Coarse meat to mean necks and houghs.
